CONTENTS OF VOLUME V

No. 1.

K. F. STØA: Determination of thiocyanate in blood serum 1
O. J. BROCH: The base-binding power of serum proteins and their function as osmoregulators in body fluids 9
P. BRENDSTRUP: On the unsaturated copper-binding capacity of blood serum 18
J. H. van de KAMER: Quantitative determination of the saturated and unsaturated higher fatty acids in fecal fat 30
B. ÄBERG: Breakdown of dextran by human feces 37
P. HEDLUND and R. LAGERCRANTZ: Typing of hemolytic streptococci in scarlet fever and other streptococcal diseases 39
M. ARVIDSON, P. HEDLUND and H. O. MOSSBERG: An agglutinogen skin test in pertussis 44
H. N. HAUGEN: The determination of endogenous "creatinine" in plasma and urine .. 48
H. N. HAUGEN and E. M. BLEGEN: The renal response to hexamethonium 58
H. N. HAUGEN and E. M. BLEGEN: Blood urea and plasma endogenous "creatinine" in renal insufficiency 63
H. N. HAUGEN and E. M. BLEGEN: The true endogenous creatinine clearance 67
E. KULONEN: Paper partition cromatography in the study of keto acids. II. Reduction of hydrazones to amino acids 72
O. J. MALM: On phosphates and phosphoric acid as dietary factors in the calcium balance of man 75
D. HALMÁGYI, J. IVÁNYI, B. FELKAI, T. ZSÓTÉR, M. TÉNYI and ZS. SZÜCS: The effect of dihydroergotamine and hydergin on pulmonary arterial pressure in man 85
T. K. I. LARMI: Variations in the oxygen and carbon dioxid tensions of end-tidal air in graduated excercise in normal persons and patients suffering from ventilatory insufficiency 90

Letters to the Editors

K. JACOBSSON: Electrophoretic demonstration of two trypsin inhibitors in human blood serum 97
E. KÖIW: A photometric scanning device for paper electrophoresis 99
K. MILTHERS and K. ROHOLT: Inactivation of benzylpenicillin-β-diethylamino-ethyl-ester hydriodide in the blood 102
J. D. DEVEY: An improved reagent for oxygen absorption in gas analysis 104
S. C. SOMMERFELT: Comments regarding the evalution of paper electrophoresis of proteins 105
BOOK REVIEW 107

No. 2.

GÖSTA TUNEVALL: The antipneumolysin reaction and its clinical application 109
C.-B. LAURELL: The diurnal variation of the serum iron concentration 118
U. S. von EULER, A. LUND, A. OLSSON, and PH. SANDBLOM: Noradrenaline and adrenaline in blood and urine in a case of phaeochromocytoma 122
S. RADNER: Method for recording aortic pressure pulses 129
F. VOGT LORENTZEN: A simple method for the determination of functional residual air volume 132

T. ASTRUP: The toxicity of synthetic heparin substitutes 137
G. W. G. BIRD: The significance of auto-agglutinins 143
B. OLHAGEN and A. Svanborg: Attempts to produce experimental lipid nephrosis with tridione 146
K. GRETTE: Micromethod for the determination of calcium and magnesium in serum .. 151
L. ERIKSEN: Paper chromatography of porphyrin pigments 155
B. LAURENT and E. A. NIKKILÄ: Studies on experimental proteinuria I 158
M. SUNDBERG: Sensitized clotting time as a clinical method 172
B. EKMAN, S. THUNE, and E. TRUEDSSON: Investigation of viscosity and hyaluronidase inhibitors in joint exudate after intra-articular cortizone injections 175
S. MÜLLERTZ: Dilution curves and accuracy in prothrombin estimations during hepatitis and dicumarol therapy 179
P. J. DRAGSTED and N. HJORTH: Urinary calcium output during treatment with ACTH 188
H. O. NIEWEG: The effect of liver extract in cultures of megaloblastic bone marrow .. 195

Technique and practical problems

H. CHR. ÉNGBÆK: Precautions against infection of personnel working in tbc. laboratories 198

Letters to the Editors

M. ZADE-OPPEN: A method for determination of the osmotic resistance of erythrocytes by means of the electro-hemoscope 199
G. Y. KENNEDY: A new apparatus for column chromatography 201
J. LEHMANN: A photoelectric micro method for the direct titration of calcium in serum with ethylenediamine tetracetate 203
BOOK REVIEW 205

No. 3.

S. TIMONEN and K. A. SCHRODERUS: The effect of aneurin on uterine contractions 207
K. G. PAUL: Separation of porphyrins by means of counter-current distribution 212
J. GOA: A micro biuret method for protein determination 218
F. RAASCHOU and K. TRAUTNER: Obstruction of the common bile duct in experimental renal hypertension in dogs 223
A. GRÜNER and T. HILDEN: The occurrence of chylomicrons in the blood in young and old individuals 236
A. GRÜNER, K. HILDEN and T. HILDEN: The effect of heparin and protamine sulphate on the occurrence of chylomicrons in human blood 241
V. LEPPÄNEN and N. HALLMAN: Improved instrument for internal standard flame photometry 250
S. J. DENCKER: Studies in artificial peripheral embolism in the rabbit 261
L.-E. TAMMELIN: An electrometric method for the determination of cholinesterase activity. I 267
H. DIAMANT and L.-E. TAMMELIN: An electrometric method for the determination of cholinesterase activity. II 271
E. PRÆTORIUS and H. POULSEN: Enzymatic determination of uric acid 273
G. Y. KENNEDY: Partition chromatography of the porphyrins 281
H. KROOK: Estimation of portal venous pressure by occlusive hepatic vein catheterization 285

Technique and practical problems

J. LUNDIN: An arrangement for cleaning pipettes 293
L. PAULSEN and J. VARNEK: Rapid staining of spermatoza 295

Letters to the Editors

K. ATERMAN, R. J. BOSCOTT and W. T. COOKE: Acidic and phenolic compounds in hydrolysed human urine, with particular reference to disorders of the liver 296

No. 4.

S. CHR. SOMMERFELT: Paper electrophoresis of isolated plasma protein fractions .. 299
E. HEILBRONN: An electrometric method for the determination of cholinesterase activity 308
P. BRENDSTRUP: Serum iron, total iron-binding capacity of serum and serum copper in normals 312
E. RYSSING: Influence of the surface tension in serum and urine on the flame-photometric analysis 321
J. DEDICHEN: Long term anticoagulant treatment of cardiovascular disorders with phenylindandione (pid-trombantin) 324
A. BROHULT: β-globulin concentration and treatment of infantile leukemia 328
O. P. FOSS: On the determination of glutamine and glutamic acid in urine by a modification of Krebs' method 334
M. PERS: A method for the determination of the glomerular filtration rate in patients with ureterocolic anastomosis 343
P. HJORT: The effect of an anion exchange resin on pepsin 350
T. HILDEN and O. MUNCK: Vitamin K as antagonist to anticoagulants 361

Technique and practical problems

N. S. C. HEILSKOV, K. OLESEN, F. SCHØNHEYDER and S. WERNER: Experiences with a mass spectrometer in analytical work with nitrogen isotopes 366
H. BRODTHAGEN: The preparation of prothrombin-free ox plasma in the estimation of prothrombin 376

Letters to the Editors

J.-A. GRÖNROOS and L. KALLIOMÄKI: Failure of cation exchange resin to impair intestinal absorption of terramycin 378
R. J. BOSCOTT and H. BICKEL: Detection of some new abnormal metabolites in the urine of phenylketonuria 380
F. KIIL: Pressure recordings in the upper urinary tract 383
